Summary

Data Science and Business Informatics student at the University of Pisa. I am curious and dynamic, and have built solid skills in data mining, statistical analysis and machine learning through numerous academic projects on real-world datasets, often working in cross-functional teams. Trilingual (French, English, Italian), I am organized, autonomous and have excellent interpersonal skills. Passionate about new technologies and about applying data to business contexts, I aim to take on roles with growing analytical and decision-making responsibility. Seeking an internship as a Business/Data Analyst.

Projects

BoardGames Dataset	Data Mining 1, University of Pisa	9/2025 – 12/2025
- Developed a complete data mining pipeline on a board games dataset (team of 3), applying clustering, classification, regression and association rule mining GitHub
Child Mind Institute Problematic Internet Use	Data Mining 2, University of Pisa	02/2026 – 06/2026
- Combined tabular data and accelerometer time series from wearable sensors to predict problematic Internet use, in a team of 3 - Applied outlier detection, classification, regression and time series classification techniques; interpreted XGBoost and Random Forest models with LIME and SHAP GitHub
Statistical Analysis of Ranking Data	Statistics for Data Science, University of Pisa	05/2026 – 06/2026
- Re-implemented in R statistical methods for the analysis of ranking data (professional preferences): Plackett-Luce model estimation via MLE, non-metric multidimensional scaling, and hypothesis testing (chi-squared, Fisher's exact test) GitHub
Sales and Production Budget	Management Control, University of Pisa	04/2025 – 06/2025
- Built a complete sales and production budget model in Excel for a fictional footwear company, including sales forecasts by product line and cost allocation GitHub
